Previous year actual interim results	24,384	402	134	256

3. Reason of revision

(1) Reason of revision for the six months ended September 30, 2008

In respect of the consolidated business forecast, net sales is expected to fall short of the previous forecast due to a decrease in North American demand for automobiles, offsetting an increase in domestic demand supported by the growing exports of trucks and construction machines to emerging countries. Operating income and ordinary income are expected to fall below the previous forecast due to increases in material prices, a decrease in North American demand, and an increase in foreign currency loss. Net income is expected to fall short of the previous forecast due to an impairment loss of ¥3,518 million related to the planned divestiture of two plants in North America and a goodwill impairment loss of ¥5,854 million for one reporting unit within the Chassis segment, offsetting a gain on extinguishment of debt and a curtailment gain.

In respect of the stand-alone business forecast, sales are expected to exceed the previous forecast due to an increase in domestic demand supported by the growing exports of trucks and construction machines to emerging countries. In addition, operating income, ordinary income, and net income are also expected to exceed the previous forecast due to successful price revision and continuing cost reduction efforts.
